Information & Assistance Unit guide 3

How to object to your summary rating

A summary rating is a document issued by the Disability Evaluation Unit that turns a doctor's report about your injury into a permanent disability rating. Summary ratings are given out after all qualified medical evaluator (QME) exams and after treating doctor exams, when requested. See I&A guide 2 for more information on requesting a QME exam.

Complete this form if you believe your summary rating is wrong. This form can also be completed at https://www.dir.ca.gov/dwc/FORMS/EAMS%20Forms/DEU/DEU103.pdf.

There are only four reasons to file this request, so follow the instructions carefully. If your reason isn't within one of the four, your request will be denied and your case will be delayed. Disagreeing with the QME or your doctor's conclusion is not a reason to object to the summary rating.

You must submit your request within 30 days of receiving the rating.

Along with the form, attach copies of:

1. The summary rating determination

2. The QME or your doctor's report

3. Any other information that supports your request.

Keep a copy of the request for your records and send the original to:

Administrative Director - Division of Workers' Compensation
P. O. Box 420603
San Francisco, CA 94142
Attn: Summary rating reconsideration

You must complete the proof of service at the bottom of the form and you must send a copy to the insurance company.
