IV. FORUM – PG&E Workforce Education & Training Programs – Robert Marcial

Chief Ravnik stated that the original former speaker, Mr. Rainey was unable to attend due to a death in his family. Ms. Ravnik introduced Mr. Robert Marcial Director of PEC (Pacific Energy Center) and Statewide WE&T (Workforce Education & Training) Planning Lead for PG&E. Ms. Ravnik thanked him for accepting the invitation to be the guest Forum speaker on such a short notice.

Mr. Marcial gave a brief outline of California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC). The IOUs (Investor Owned Utilities) administer the Workforce Education & Training Program (WE&T) on behalf of the CPUC. The WE&T is a small portion of a larger portfolio for energy efficiency that the IOUs deliver.

PG&E has programs that address the K-12, the community colleges, UC-CSUs, and people in apprenticeship programs as well as a wide range of professions. PG&E has seven energy centers across the state that are either owned or operated by IOUs. The WE&T offers outreach events, consultations, technical advice to ensure people are asking the right questions about energy efficiency potential. The programs are free of charge. The funds for the programs are collected through the commission through the utilities rates on the electric side. On the gas side there is a public purpose programs charge.

Areas of focus for WE&T are looking to find how support members of the low income and disadvantaged communities. Another focus is on online and on-demand. The WE&T has engaged with DAS to create a partnership with DAS and the apprenticeship community on workforce issues of energy efficiency.

Mr. Marcial represents the IOUs and the purpose is to inspire the power of customers to eliminate unnecessary energy use. The WE&Ts’ goal is to see a workforce that is capable of achieving energy savings. They could be personal goals, those of the customers, the goals of California or the utility from the perspective of the WE&T and implementing the utility programs as well. The purpose for workforce education and training is essentially to provide that workforce, as well as the resources, knowledge and skills that it takes to achieve those goals.

Mr. Marcial presented a guidance plan recommendation that creates a dedicated three part skills-building portfolio targeting energy savings and workforce inclusion goals. One of the components is to carry out a program to enhance and verify Energy Efficiency skills for the key trades in the state-certified apprenticeship system, through a partnership with the CCCCCO (California community Colleges Chancellor’s Office) and DAS. He stated that after conversations with DAS Chief Ravnik and DAS Deputy Chief Glen Forman, they identified the concept of volunteering journeyman upgrade programs on energy efficiency craft by craft. This approach is more aligned with “market building” which is essentially expanding a wide range of knowledge. Some of the potential outcomes could be subject matter expert IOU representatives on an advisory board, reviewing existing curriculum, developing and revising curriculum.

WE&T is looking for the best match that they have to offer programs to apprentices and journeymen that will deliver on those energy efficiency goals within the next 20 years. A key factor is collaboration with DAS and the utilities. The CPUC is looking for the highest potential for contributing to energy efficiency in buildings. He presented a graph on GWh by Technology – 2012-2013 (actual) vs. 2018 projected – for commercial buildings. He pointed out lighting, HVAC, whole building, and the building Envelope. (Mr. Marcial’s presentation is attached to these minutes posted on the website).

There was discussion on journeyman upgrade path vs the introduction of energy efficiency in apprenticeship training. John Dunn, CCCCCO stated that the Chancellor’s Office looks for industry certification when offering support for new training or upgrade training. It was also stated that although training is essential for certification, that a focus on the skills is just as important as knowledge building. Mr. Marcial encouraged anyone interested in working with PG&E and other IOUs to include energy efficiency in their training to contact him.

D. Legislation Committee - Report from January 29, 2015 – Chairperson Yvonne de la Peña
Commissioner de la Peña reported that the committee reviewed the Governor’s proposed 2015-2016 budget as it relates to apprenticeship. The budget bill that the committee is following is SB 69 and the identical Assembly version is AB 103. She reported that the bill restores the funding cuts that were made during the recession. In addition, $15M has been added for creating new and innovative apprenticeship demonstration projects. With the augmentation, the community college line item is now $22.0M and it includes their increase of the restoration, which was a 129% increase. Suggestions were made at the committee meeting regarding making a proposal to put some of the $15M onto the California Department of Education LEA side. The total augmentation proposed is $51.9M which includes a $42 increase the hourly rate, from $5.04 to $5.46. The $5.46 is the rate of the non-credit community college classes. Another item discussed was to add into the budget bill, a connection to that rate so as to keep it connected and remains to the $5.46 rate, and when that rate goes up the apprenticeship rate goes up along with it. Another item of discussion was AB 86; the proposed budget increases the adult education block grant by $500M. Apprenticeship is one of the five programs included in AB 86. It was discussed that the local consortium would have the opportunity to use those dollars for apprenticeship. Commissioner Jack Buckhorn made a motion to write a letter to Governor Brown supporting the Governor’s budget augmentation for apprenticeship. Commissioner Pat McGinn seconded the motion. All were in favor. The motion carried.

Commissioner Hodess reported that DAS Deputy Chief Glen Forman explained the changes in the Labor Code §1777.5 regarding distributions of training contributions by DAS, explaining that the changes conflicted with existing regulations in CCR 230.2 (d). Mr. Forman recommended eliminating this language to conform to the new legislation and Deputy Attorney General Lucy Wang agreed. It was m/s/c to recommend this action to the CAC.
He further reported that there was continuing discussion on revisions to the DAS 140 Form. After extended discussion, it was agreed that DAS Deputy Chief Glen Forman will post the suggested changes to the form, and a possible draft revised form and take any possible action at the next meeting.
