The image shows the homepage of the UCLA Labor Occupational Safety & Health Program website. The header features the program's name in large, bold, dark blue letters. Below the header is a dark blue banner with the UCLA logo and the text "Labor Occupational Safety & Health Program". The banner also includes a navigation bar with links to "ABOUT US", "OUR WORK", "REGISTRATION", "RESEARCH AND POLICY", "RESOURCES", "NEWS & MEDIA", and "CONTACT US". To the right of the navigation bar is a search icon. The main content area features a large illustration of two workers, one wearing a straw hat and carrying a tray of produce, the other wearing a backpack and carrying a tray. They are standing in front of a large yellow sun with radiating lines. To the right of the sun is a large thermometer. A text box on the left side of the banner reads "PROTECTING WORKERS FROM EXTREME HEAT (INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES)". The text in the box states: "Four short worker health and safety video clips were produced in six Indigenous languages. Each video clip focuses on one of four messages from the Cal/OSHA Heat Illness Prevention Standard, all of which are required California workplace provisions." A "LEARN MORE" button is located at the bottom left of the banner.
