- Nick Stated that the NOVA system is still being delayed and they are looking to move everything to another reporting platform.
- Nick discussed the governor's campaign from the beginning of the year. Newsom has encourage businesses to become creators, not just consumers of talent by partnering with our community colleges and establishing apprenticeship programs He would like to see an increase to 500,000 apprentices by 2029, creating a new vocational education pipeline of high-skill workers. We are currently at about 94k apprentices in California.

- Questions and comments were made by the apprenticeship community.
- Pre-Apprenticeship RFA is currently in the works.
- Discussed High Road Training Partnerships. The High Road Training Partnerships (H RTP) initiative is a $10M demonstration project designed to model partnership strategies for the state. Ranging from transportation to health care to hospitality, the H RTP model embodies the sector approach championed by the Board — industry partnerships that deliver equity, sustainability, and job quality. Along with these program investments, the Board is producing a body of policy and principle to guide related undertakings across the workforce system. Indeed, the initiative was designed as a campaign — to advance a field of practice that simultaneously addresses urgent questions of income inequality, economic competitiveness, and climate change through regional skills strategies designed to support economically and environmentally resilient communities across the state. The industry-based, worker-focused training partnerships build skills for California's "high road" employers — firms that compete based on quality of product and service achieved through innovation and investment in human capital, and can thus generate family-supporting jobs where workers have agency and voice.
