Cal/OSHA Announces Improvements to its Payment System for Pressure Vessel, Amusement Ride and Tramway Permits

Oakland—Cal/OSHA is making it easier for all businesses in California seeking permits for pressure vessels, amusement rides or tramways.

“We continue to improve the process of issuing permits, so that the public can more easily access the services they need,” said Christine Baker, Director of the Department of Industrial Relations (DIR). Cal/OSHA is a division of DIR.

A more effective method for paying invoices for these permits is in place effective today. The method, which allows businesses to utilize a “lockbox check,” will process payments more quickly thereby shortening the permit processing time.

“A payment option that is both secure and decreases processing time is a win-win for businesses and the state,” said Cal/OSHA Chief Ellen Widess.

Checks can be sent to the respective offices below:
